Thermo Scientific Niton DXL

David has the Thermo Scientific Niton DXL Advanced XRF Gold Tester, which gives the exact gold content of your jewelry without damaging it.

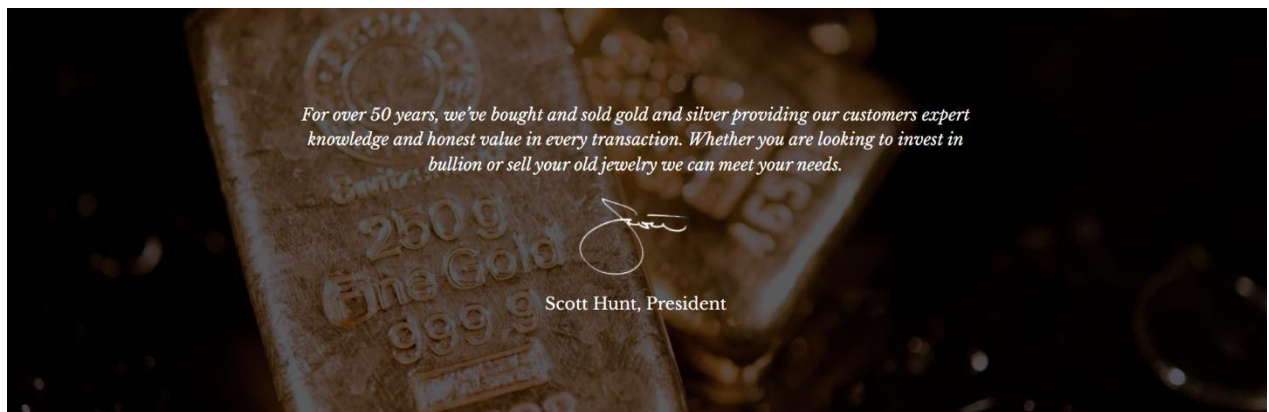

Nearly every gold buyer uses the inexpensive $50 "scratch acid test", meaning they damage your jewelry by scraping it or filing it down to test it with acid, which gives only a rough approximation of the actual gold content.

The $21,750 Niton DXL Advanced XRF Gold Tester provides a digital readout of the exact gold content of your jewelry in seconds without even touching it, and you get to see the results for yourself while watching your jewelry the whole time through the window on the device.

The Thermo Scientific Niton DXL Advanced XRF Gold Tester is the most accurate gold testing device available.
